Are you still relying on manual data entry?

---

The average advisor spends 1.5 hours per client inputting their basic information.

Wouldn't it be easier if you could process new client data
at the click of a button?

The Situation

The paper chase

WHEN AN OUTDATED SYSTEM BECOMES A BURDEN

Are you spending hours each week on manual data entry? If you feel like you're constantly bogged down with administrative chores then it's time to rethink the way you collect and process your clients' data.

Simply processing a new client shouldn't mean scanning forms, sending emails, waiting, chasing up, downloading documents and copying data into your systems. This sort of paper chasing is not only stressful, but prone to transcription errors that can lead to compliance issues down the track.

If this clunky, time-consuming process sounds familiar, it's time to discover a simpler way. AdvisorForms helps you streamline your client data capture so you can spend less time on data entry, and more time advising.

The digital answer

PLAN FOR A FORM-FREE FUTURE

AdvisorForms is the simple, digital solution to a messy, paper problem. By digitising the capture and storage of client data, AdvisorForms streamlines your onboarding process (what client doesn't love a smooth welcome?) and saves you hours of data entry.

Our sleek online portal provides a space for clients to fill in any relevant forms online, to be reviewed by you at the click of a button. Once forms are reviewed by both parties the data automatically populates in your system. Integrate AdvisorForms with your existing software systems and the data automatically syncs to avoid costly errors and mismatched information.

There are no more piles of paperwork and no data entry. Just a single, simple solution.
